D12 / PRACTITIONER NOTE OF A REPORTED ACCOUNT

Practitioner Intake Note

Reported recruitment, movement, and control | Provenance: fictional practitioner-authored note of reported information

The note preserves approximate memory and distinguishes it from administrative records.

Reported account

Nila reported accepting what appeared to be an ordinary customer-support job. She remembers reaching the worksite around 24 January 2025 after travel and shared housing were arranged by the recruiter.

Documents and movement

Nila reported that supervisor Daro Venn retained her passport and phone, that she could not leave Cedar House without approval, and that the passport was never returned. She reported debt pressure and threats involving her family.

Clarification needed	Do6 records Cedar House arrival on 23 January 2025, while this note records approximate worksite arrival around 24 January 2025. These may describe different locations or events.

D12 / PRACTITIONER NOTE OF A REPORTED ACCOUNT

Practitioner Intake Note

Reported work, alleged conduct, and current needs | Provenance: fictional practitioner-authored note of reported information

The note records a reported connection between assigned tasks, pressure, and the later allegation.

Reported assigned activity

Nila reported being forced to work excessive hours, working without pay she could access, and being ordered to send account-verification messages. She reported that the supervisor made her transfer funds on 14 March 2025 after she refused.

Current safety and procedure

Nila reported feeling unsafe because of retaliation threats. Immediate housing, legal aid, safe contact, and an interpreter for the hearing require confirmation.

Practitioner boundary	This note records a reported account and urgent questions. It does not establish that the reported events occurred or determine any legal consequence.
